With total gratitude,

Amanda Sienknecht

I really enjoyed taking this workshop for the second time. It has been three years since the first time I took it. The second time reinforced all of the things I have been working on from High Trust, as well as showed me new ways to teach students in the class.

This second time came at the perfect time in my life when I have slipped back into the negative ~~and~~ with my "sick" family. I will be working on going to solution and going to the positive with my outer family, as well as growing healthy children (my own).
I loved the class!

Yay for you, Denny!

wow is With total gratitude.

Denny - Thank you for continuing to grow me as a woman, teacher, mom, wife. What I keep learning from you is life changing. After your visits + during, I have laughed, cried, learned to listen and to better express myself. →

I have always been inspired by the story of Esther in the Bible. Particularly the words in Esther 4:14 - "Who knows but that you were made for such a time as this." Denny, the work you are doing in education reminds me of this calling - this time we are in as educators - we need what you are inspiring us to do. be used in this time we have been given.

I feel so blessed to have grown up in a healthy family that wanted me, their daughter after 2 sons. My dad was just out the door working on our dairy farm. My mom was there, at home, listening to me read and watching my "performances." Always I was told how great I was, how loved. Family was all around, grandpa for hugs and horse back rides and grandma with little, yummy Snoops. Cousins, uncles + aunts.

Talent is time sensitive! I left my dutch, dairy world to go to college. Not typical for girls in my world who just married a rich dairyman + lived happily(?) ever after. I went to Arizona Pacific University + thrived. I sang in singing groups + traveled to Europe a couple times, all across the USA + just bloomed - those seeds finally secure enough. I met a guy in the choir who would talk at a 24 hr. cafe all about Montana! Here we are 24 years later blessed with 2 beautiful girls.

I believe, with all my heart that God has walked with me every step. My family has experienced financial ruin, cancer, loss, relocating the family business as industry pushed dairies out of Northern Calif., etc. and in all of it He is faithful.

Thank you for pushing me, causing me to look back on what was and allowing me to imagine and go to who I want to be. This time ^{after level 3/4} I finally feel I can give my students + family your inspiration not just tell and say the
